Standing of Schools.

SCHOOL NO. 1.

Summer Term.—Taught by Mrs. F. E. Hardy. She has the instincts and tact of a teacher, seemed to have consulted well the course of study, and to have prepared herself for the recitations. The school made good advancement.

Fall Term.—Taught by Miss Adline Wheeler of Bangor. She uses facts, incidents and current events, to illustrate and simplify the work of the text book. Her selections and arrangements were characterized by good taste and sound judgment. The examination at the close of the school showed good advancement.

Winter Term.—Taught by Miss Lillis Smith. She secures promptness, accuracy and brevity in her recitations. Her pupils were respectful and courteous, and made good progress in their studies.

SCHOOL NO. 2.

Summer Term.—Taught by Miss Inis Smith. A certain amount of unpleasantness occurred in this school and developed to such a condition that it was deemed advisable to close the school at the end of the sixth week.

Fall and Winter Terms.—Both the Fall and Winter terms were taught by Miss Flora Kimball. In these two terms the scholars worked in harmony with their teacher, and showed marked advancement at the end of each term.

SCHOOL NO. 3, GRAMMAR.

Summer Term.—Under the instructions of Miss Annie Ruggles, whose influence and teaching tend to make pupils thoughtful, considerate, gentle and courteous in manner. She has the faculty of inducing them to voluntarily put fourth their best efforts as they did in this school.

Fall and Winter Terms.—Under the instructions of Miss Alice Word. She uses facts, incidents and current events to illustrate and simplify the work of the text-book. The selections and arrangements are characterized by good taste and sound judgment. Therefore the examination at the close of each term showed good and thorough work.

SCHOOL NO. 3, PRIMARY.

Summer Term.—Taught by Mrs. Hortense Chipman. In this school of twenty four small scholars, fifteen of whom were in the Primary class, it required a large amount of tact and patience, but Mrs. Chipman seemed equal to the occasion.

Fall and Winter Term.—Taught by Miss Nettie Marrison. Both of these terms proved to be useful and successful schools.

SCHOOL NO. 4.

Summer Term.—Taught by Miss Alice Word, who continued to do the thorough work for which she has so frequently demonstrated her ability in the past.

Fall Term.—Taught by Miss Sarah Murphy. Some lack of harmony between teacher and pupils depreciated its value somewhat.

Winter Term.—Taught by Miss Bertha Hardy to whom your supervisor looked without displeased confidence for a repetition of the success which she had previously earned in the Summer and Fall terms of school No. 8. The examination was highly satisfactory.

SCHOOL NO. 5.

Summer and Fall Terms.—Taught by Miss Nella Moriarty who gave that earnest effort which has given her a rank among our best teachers.

Winter Term.—Taught by Miss Ethelyn Rogers. The amount of work accomplished and advancement made was good, as shown by the examination at the close of the term.

SCHOOL NO. 6.

Summer Term.—Taught by Miss Lilla Hutchins. This school was up to the average standard of work and acquirement.

Fall Term.—Under the instructions of Miss Vina Lennan, made good advancement.

Winter Term.—Taught by Miss Annie Ruggles, a teacher to whom your supervisor looked without displeased confidence for a repetition of the success which she has previously earned. The examination at the close of the term was highly satisfactory.

SCHOOL NO. 7.

Summer Term.—Taught by Miss Sarah Murphy. This school was not up to the average in work and acquirement.

Fall Term.—Under the instructions of Miss Lillis Smith, who brought the school to a good state of discipline, and accomplished a good terms' work.

Winter Term.—Miss Nella Moriarty continued to show the same earnest effort, shown in the Summer and Fall terms of school No. 5.

SCHOOL NO. 8.

Summer and Fall Terms.—In both these terms Miss Hardy showed excellent ability to make each recitation accomplish all it was capable of doing for her pupils. Examination showed thorough work.

Winter Term.—This was Mr. Walter Oakman's first term of school and in consideration of that fact, was an exceptionally good one. Systematic and thorough in his administration, he placed the pupils in a position to pass a fine examination.

SCHOOL NO. 9.

This school was under the instructions of Miss Katie Murphy for the three successive terms. Each lesson was so taught as to justify the teacher in feeling that something had been accomplished, something done; showing evidence of an earnest attempt to inculcate the foundation of all education, that is, to teach her pupils to use their own reason.

SCHOOL NO. 10.

Under the discipline of M. Blanche Dodge, this school made good and thorough advancement each successive term. Her questions follow each other in a logical order, and explanations suited to the abilities and advancement of her pupils.

SCHOOL NO. 11.

Summer Term.—This school under the instructions of Miss Lillis Smith, showed good interest and good advancement for so small a school.

Fall and Winter Terms.—Taught by Mrs. F. E. Hardy. Each scholar had perfect lessons, and used in an intelligent manner, the facts and principles which they had learned.

Upon the whole, the schools of the past year have been very satisfactory, both in regard to the amount of work accomplished, and the manner in which it has been done.

It has been thought advisable to introduce a supplementary work on Arithmetic, to supply the deficiency of the one in use at the beginning of the year. Accordingly Pauls' Arithmetic has been selected and received the unanimous approval of the teachers, as well as the scholars.
